CLASS HISTORY

By FRANCES GRIFFIN AND JOHN DICE

DURING our first year in U. High, Mr. Wells and Miss Sebald were our homeroom teachers. Our class program for assembly was a play written by Eleanor Jones. The boy's homeroom gave a party, followed by another given by the girls, who finished the year off in fine style by starting a fire in the basement of the Elementary School.

EIGHTH

In the eighth grade our boys began to show a glimmering of originality by setting off skyrocketes and gunpowder in their locker rooms. Eleanor Jones wrote another play, given by the girl's homeroom. The high point of the year was the class picnic at Newport beach, everyone bringing the wrong food. However, we filled in the gaps with hot dogs, bought from the pavilion. After a baseball game played amid clouds of interested mosquitoes, and a feeble attempt at dancing, we left for home in the usual post-picnic manner, tired but happy.

NINTH

The boys came back to school to find a new homeroom teacher in Mr. Well's place. Miss Chipman took over the arduous task of looking after them. The boys gave a comedy in assembly, distinguishing themselves as potential Thespian material. Their escapade of the year, a war fought with shoes, took place in the locker room, scene of many past scrimmages. This particular event was memorable for its electric light breakage. We finished the year again with our annual Newport picnic.

TENTH

As big tenth graders, we felt quite superior to the little Junior High children. We celebrated our right to attend school parties by giving the Sophomore Struggle. Our boys turned athletic and took part in several sports, while the rest of us turned out to watch them. This year ended, luckily, without any mock warfare or Fourth of July celebrations.

ELEVENTH

In our Junior Year, Miss Sebald left us for a secretarial position in Detroit. Fortunately, Miss McKinney was without a homeroom, so she became guardian to the girls. We held many important positions in the various school clubs, and the boys served as regulars on school teams. A large part of the class took part in the Junior Play, The Torchbearers, written by George Kelly and produced under Mr. Ford's direction. The play, a decided success, was one of the high spots of our school career. We topped the Senior celebration by giving the Junior-Senior Prom and a reception following the graduation exercises.

TWELFTH

Much to their disappointment, the boys found that Miss Chipman would not be with them during their last year. However, they were glad to welcome Miss Bell, an exchange teacher from Spokane. Stan Moore, the new president of the student council, left early in the fall for a school in Asheville, but his office was very ably filled by his successor, Bill Dobson. The Importance of Being Earnest, our Senior play was highly successful. Our Alumni party brought back an unusually large number of U. High graduates, who expressed much pleasure in the really beautiful transformation of the bare 'rec' room. Matters of importance that can be settled only by seniors necessitated the holding of long and sometimes exciting class meetings but at last everything was settled—the class motto, the colors, the song. We trust that we spent our class memorial money wisely. The events of commencement week rushed by in quick succession and on the morning of June 18, we clasped our diplomas and bowed ourselves out of the undergraduate life of University High School.

CLASS SONG

BY BILL GRAM

I

Behind us thoughts of friendship made
And goals that we have won.
Behind us memories of things
That we have said and done.
Behind us all our teachers, who
Have helped us make our way.
These memories will linger, though
We leave your halls today.

II.

Before us all the world to roam
And trials that we must face
But we're the sons (daughters) of U. H. S
And we will find our place—
We know that we can conquer all,
Can answer every call,
We're graduates of U. H. S.
The grandest school of all.

CHORUS

Goodbye, U. High,
Your memories will cling—
Goodbye, U. High—
Your song will sweeter ring
Farewell, classmates,
For now our ways must part
Goodbye, U. High—
You're ever in my heart.

PROPHECY

By BILL GRAM

PROLOGUE

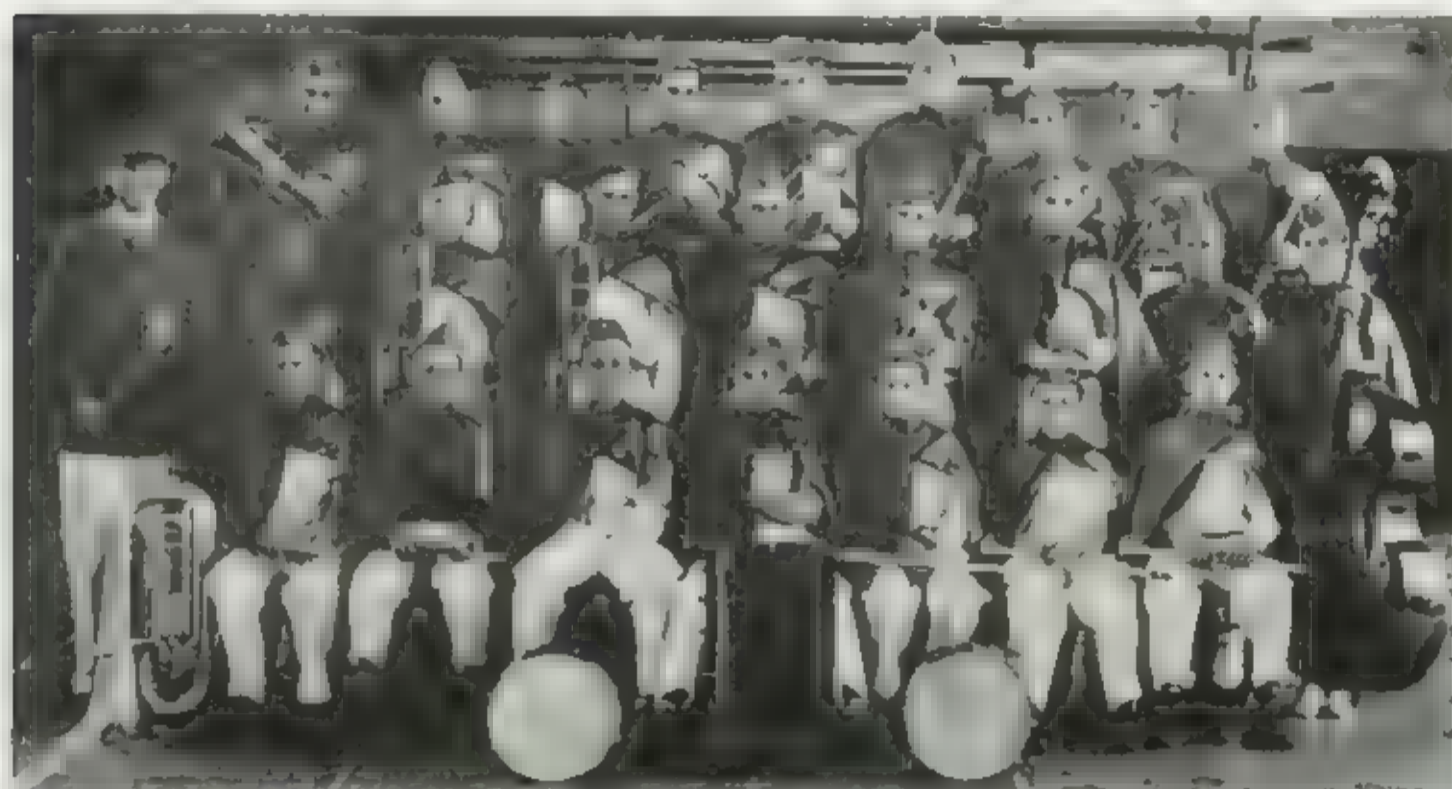

I see the shadows of the future
Grey and cold
I dare the fates—
My prophecy is much too bold.

JACKI learned the model's pose,
Wearing other people's clothes.
BARBARA BOWENS painting halls.
Her murals are on a thousand walls
FRANCES GRIFFIN'S work is giving
Violin lessons for a living.
MARGARET HAAS will help you sew.
Her class comes via radio.
ALLISON CURTIS made a name
By writing verse in Gertie's vein.
MARY ELLEN S on Broadway, too
It's news when Wheeler says "I do!"
A dress shop on Fifth Avenue
Is GINNIE DRURY'S dream come true.
MARY ANNA wears a smile
Her clothes designs have set the style.
BETTY NELSON and her plane
Spanned the ocean in the rain.
GINNIE McCALLA teaches wimmin'
Exercises that are slimmin'.
MARTY GRAHAM'S books are seen
In bookstores, radio, stage, and screen.
JEANNE MADDY'S violin has paid.
They say her star will never fade.
Working in the social service
Hasn't made ANN SCHNEIDFELD nervous.
ITHIEL SMITH'S voice is so high
She starred in Madam Butterfly.
BETTY PECK sings with a band
That's called the hottest in the land.
SUE KEPPEL'S songs are quite the thing.
The stuff she writes is known as "swing".
MARY JEAN can't go much higher
She's an envied foreign buyer
BONNIE CUMMING is the rage
Her costumes found on every stage.
MILDRED PRLSTON'S statues are
In all museums, near and far.
CAROL BOWEN wed a rich old gent,
And never budgets what she's spent.
DOROTHY OUTWATER is a nurse,
We must say she could do much worse.
HARRIET SHOCRAFT knows the answer
To every question concerning cancer
MARY HELEN'S what she hoped to be,
In occupational therapy.
PEG MAY is in the royal pay.
She watches David when Wallie's away.
BUNNY HUNTINGTON'S so witty
He's writing a radio comedian's ditty.
GUTHIE'S in archaeology
He knows his bones from A to Z.
DUFFY'S profile made him be
A playboy of society.
ART HOPKINS is an official cheerer,
His voice is louder, now and clearer.
WENDELL YOUNG is raising horses—
He buys them from a million sources.

HARRY McNEAL'S a car designer,
They say that there is no one finer.
SAMPLE plays professional ball,
He's the fastest of them all.
'DAGGIF BOY' has set the mode
By writing novels in morse code.
LIZZIE LEWIS earns her pay—
By Violin—the Kriesler way.
FRANK WHITNEY is a fire chief;
We know he'll never come to grief.
WILLIE GRAM, le gigolo,
Wed a dame with lots of dough.
TEDDY BRAGG set quite a fad.
His face is on the collar ads.
The Tiger's newest pitching ace
Is wearing BILLY DOBSON'S face
RUSSELL SMITH is spouting Lear
In every jerk town, far and near.
TICKNOR found a cure for ticks,
It's dynamite and chloride bricks.
BOB SMITH now plays the vibraphone,
And calls a leading band his own
FITCH is a member of the bar.
The Tillotson tongue has brought him far.
JOHN DICE experiments with gearing
In aeronautical engineering.
Rocket ships are nothing new.
NEWBURGH made Buck Rogers true.
He reeks cigar, and kisses brats.
Oh, SENATOR MOEHLMAN'S quite the cats.
WILLIAM WOODS a college prof.
They say his course is pretty tough.
ED PERKINS scored a screen survival.
He's Robert Taylor's greatest rival.
DOUGLAS NOLLAR'S in movies now
For pantomime came back, and how!
PHIL DICKINSON knows little strife—
He does the photographs for Life!
AVARD follows his father's trade—
The Fairbank's sculpturing has paid.
ROBERT LONG'S on Hollywood—
His profile is so very good
ANN VEDDER is a local wit
She has no trouble keeping fit
BEN KUCHAR raises honey bees
It's not safe to wear B. V. D's.
SGT. NEIL ALLEN patrols every beat
On all the underworld's dark streets
LARRY ALLEN'S entomology
Has grown into psychology.
PAUL KLAGER found a mine of gold
His prophecy was thus foretold.
STAEBLER is a jockey boy
In green and white this lad is coy.
MALCOLM is a famed M.D.
He cures his patients of T. B.
HAROLD SMITH is quite the man,
He leads a civic liquor ban.
VIVIAN GOLDFEN'S famed complexion
Is set off now to perfection.

EPILOGUE

And so I give to you the class
Of '37, may all things come to pass.

BAND

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

BY BEN KUCHAR

WITH membership in both the band and orchestra more than doubled, the instrumental music department, under the baton of Mr. Vroman, showed an encouraging increase in activity during the past year. More than eighty students were enrolled, and of these over sixty received technical instruction on a variety of instruments with the aid of eighteen student School of Music teachers supervised by Professor Mattern. In addition, a junior band and orchestra was organized to prepare the younger players of University High for future membership in the senior groups.

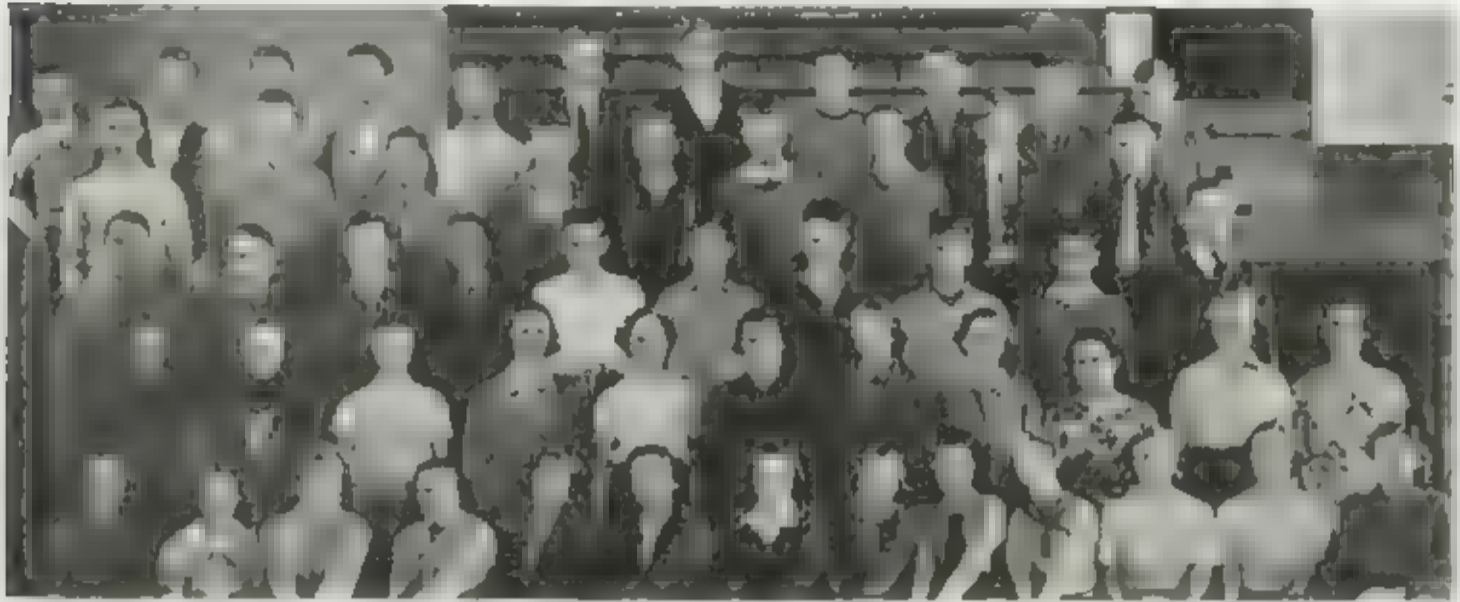

The band played at all of the basketball games, at several assembly programs, at the outdoor Purple and Gold meet and the Belleville festival. They also gave a concert during the year, and used the receipts for new uniforms. Music was furnished by the orchestra for several plays, for the spring operetta, and for the graduation exercises. Much of the orchestra's success may be attributed to the fine example set by the Senior Class members of the orchestra, many of whom held the principal solo chairs and were Mr. Vroman's chief support early in the season.

VOCAL MUSIC

The Girls' and Boys' Glee Clubs and the A Cappella Choir, now in its third year of existence, were as usual quite active during the past two semesters. A brilliant recital was given before parents and friends of Miss Olson's students at an invitational musicale and tea in May, and on Christmas Eve the Michigan League heard traditional carols sung by the A Cappella Choir. Members from both the Choir and Glee Clubs also participated in the very successful operetta, Once in a Blue Moon, the receipts from which combined with those from last year's operetta enabled the Choir to be outfitted at last with their long-hoped-for robes.

CLUBS

BY DAG BOWER

AND so now June has come all the clubs are closing up with a bang after another successful year. The Thespians are weeping bitterly in their most professionally educated toothgats manner over the glories that are past and gone, over the glories of the year '36-'37, when under the direction of Mr. McGaw and the leadership of Stan Dattendack, with Ruth Mary Smith as secretary, they went beautifully screwy in a slung play, "Sauce for the Groggins", went grandiosely dramatic in "Dregs" later in the season, and entertained themselves competently with privately rendered skits in the interim, in those interims that is when they were not directing make up and costuming of several other school productions. Altogether, say the Thespians in carefully enunciated chorus, a grand year. Vaddy, vaddy grand.

And the French Club, proted by Betty Johnson, and Greek and amenable as ever, agrees with them. Though smaller than usual in attendance this year, the club made up for its lack of numbers by increased interest in the programs presented. One of these, the "Jour de Roi", was particularly impressive, according to the Gauls.

The Student Council was headed this year by Bill Dobson. Frank Whitney was vice president, with Mary Anna Jamison as secretary, and Fitch Tillotson treasurer. The usual amount of work was done during the year. Some innovations were instituted, and especial attention was given to safety rulings and the betterment of the school's tardiness record. Now, having decided that a politician's life is not a happy one, except at moments, the council members are looking forward to vacation.

Last reports had the whole several dozen of those capable officeworkers, the Student Guides, on the way to Wake's for some liniment. Those aching joints, you know. They found the past year to be about as pleasant as could be expected, considering U. High's triple decked flights of long, long stairs and those absence slips and office notices which don't get any fewer. Virginia Drury was president, with Mary Helen Davis as vice-president and Martha Scott and Ann Vedder as secretaries for the first and second semesters, respectively.

What is another high spot of the year its April Fool edition the Broadcaster, dazzled a little by band practice next door but efficient as ever, went to town this year under the guidance of Mary Ellen Wheeler, with Jim Boatman as assistant editor and Stan Duffendick as ~~secretary~~. At present the Broadcaster is probably reminiscing about how it was haunted these past two semesters, as was U. High. The spook it is alleged, was a loose mounted beam rattler named X. Hmmmmm....

Somewhat weary winged and a little bleary eyed after reading nearly six hundred manuscripts submitted it for publication, Pegasis is celebrating its third birthday as an organization separate from its ex-parent, the Broadcaster. Co-edited by Alison Curtis and Bill Gram, the literary annual was produced this year in its usual attractive format and contained work by representatives of all grades in U. High.

Two new clubs, the Lens and Snatter, composed of local camera enthusiasts and presided over by Wendell Young, and the German Club led by Bill Wood and formed to encourage interest in things Teutonic, came into being during the year. A third one, the Latin Club, after nearly giving up the ghost because of the laziness of one faculty advisor and another's absence upon sabbatical leave, resurrected itself in the second semester and became quite active once again under the benign guiding influences of Mrs. Craig, Mr. Dunning and President Harriet Shoecraft.

There remains, of course, one outstanding organization, but we won't mention that here. Anyway, you've probably shoved your nose—long, short, pett, hooked, Roman, Grecian, Irish, or curly or lacy—pretty far into it by now. If you haven't, then scrun, podner, scrun. You get no right down here. You get to be initiated first. Get back there and look at them pitty pictures.

GIRL'S SPORTS

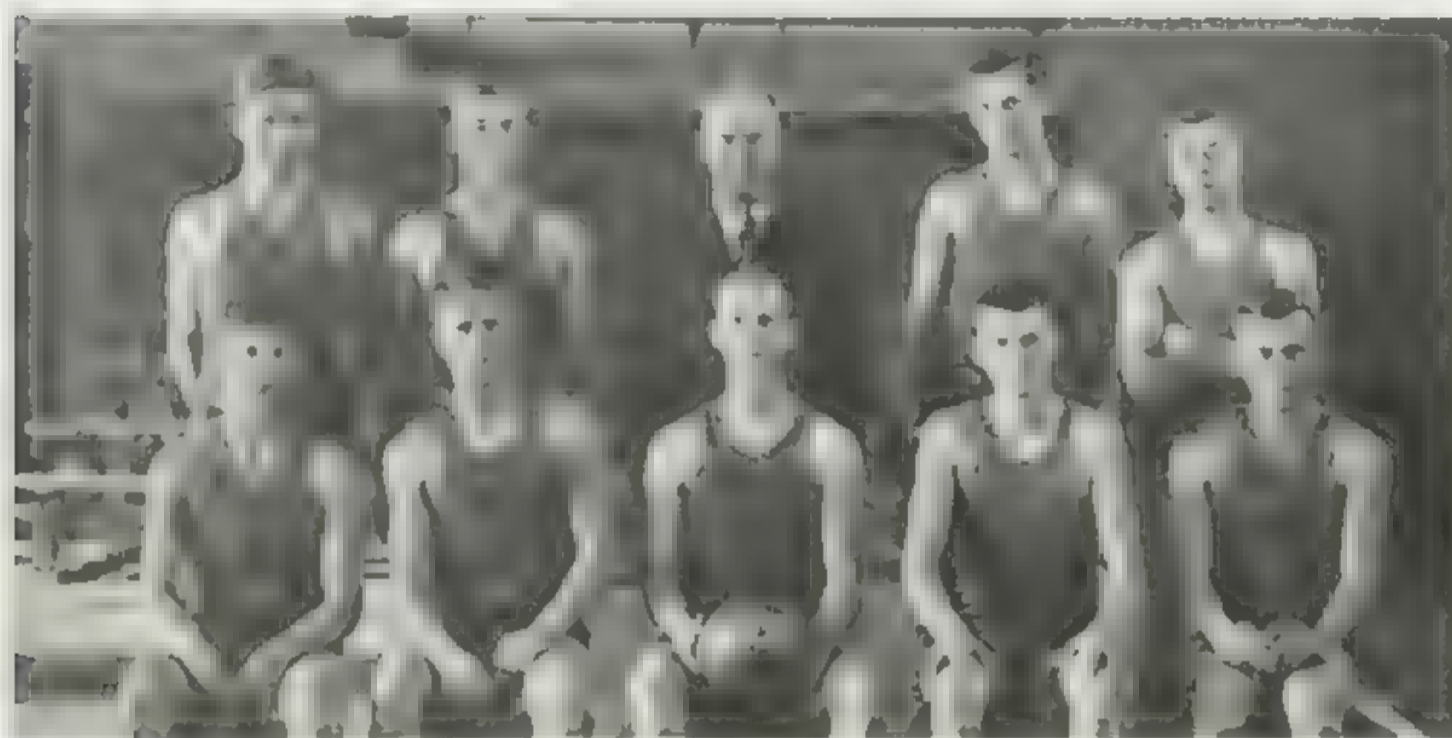

BY CAROL BOWEN

THE annual tournaments sponsored by the G. A. A. have turned out very successfully this year. The hockey tournament, under the general management of Ann Schmedewind, was unsuccessful in their several attempts with the University women, although they played five games. U. High was invited to play an Ann Arbor High team in the Great Lakes Hockey Tournament from which an all-star team was chosen. Our team was host to the Ann Arbor High School at a hockey playday. Virginia McCann had charge of the basketball games. During the season two different games were played with Lincoln Consolidated School, and a basketball playday was arranged at Ypsilanti High School. The volleyball tournament was under the direction of Ruth Gram and Connie Larch was manager of the basketball games.

Horsback riding, which was conducted by Barbara Greve, has been an outstanding feature in the sports program. Betty Johnson formed a Modern Dance Club which practiced once each week. Swimming, badminton, and tennis was under the direction of Rose Mary Mann, Betty Farris, and Mary Hayden respectively.

During the winter the G. A. A. Board gave a sponge party to its members by which it hoped to arouse more interest in G. A. A. activities.

The G. A. A. wishes to thank all members for their splendid cooperation during the year.

BASKETBALL

BY STANLEY C. DUFFENDACK

WITH only two veterans, Ted Bragg and Bill Dobson, and three substitutes, Bill Wood, Frank Whitney, and Fitch Tillotson, returning from last year's squad, Basketball Coach Fred East molded a smooth running combination which won eight games and lost but five. The Cubs ended in a tie for third place in the Huron League having lost only three league games. The substitutes on this year's team were Art Hopkins, Doug Gibb, Jim Woodruff, John Mc Murray, Stan Duffendack—all of last year's second team, with Jack Sharman and Dick Hewett, a sophomore.

The Cubs won the season opener against Farmington and dropped the second game to the alumni. They took the Huron League opener from Chelsea, 13-12, and scored their second League victory against Canton, 25-17. They took their third straight League victory from Tecumseh by a score of 15-11, but dropped their next game to the League Leaders, Danco, by a 16-16 score. The next three games were easily won from Lincoln by a 26-20 score, Belleville by a 20-9 score, and Milan by a 31-20 score. Playing without the services of Bill Dobson, star center and high point man, the Cubs were defeated by Roosevelt, 17-12, in their second League defeat.

In an exciting game the St. Thomas School took the Good Neighbors Trophy away from the Cubs by defeating them, 18-25, in an overtime period. The following week the Cubs received their third League setback at the hands of Stine in a disheartening game by a score of 26-20.

Northville beat U. High in their first start in the District Tournament, only after the Cubs had waged a spirited and well fought battle, by a score of 20-18, and eliminated the Cubs from the tournament for the third time in three years.

The Cubs second team had a fair season, winning six and losing six games. Bob Lovell was the high point man and leader of the Cubettes.

SWIMMING

THE U-High swimming team entered a rather poor season by taking third place in the State Meet. Although they lost out of their desired meets they made an enviable record for such a small squad. The team was dry captained this year by Ted Garbe and was coached by Michigan's star diver, Ben Grady.

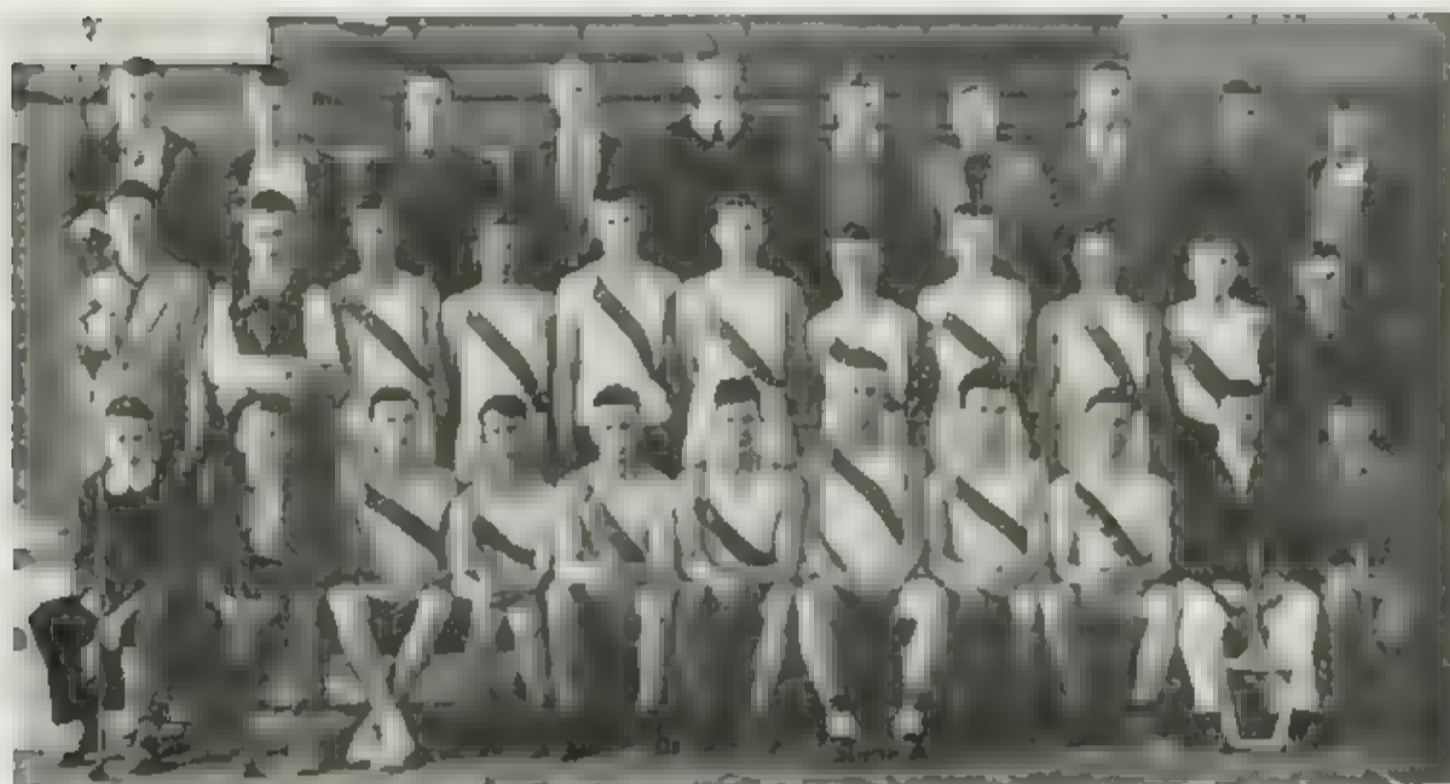

The first and last meets were dropped to Ypsilanti Roosevelt, while the Cross-Country meet was Ann Arbor High. The next two were dropped to Pontiac and Jackson. The next meet the Cubs had a good success, which was interrupted by illness in Ed Emerson. The other meets were lost to Ypsilanti Central, River Rouge, and Monroe.

In the State Meet the team of Comstock, Allen, Emerson, and Garbe won the 400 yard freestyle relay with a time of 5:50.6 with Ypsilanti Central some five years back. The team of Emerson, Allen and Garbe were second to Ypsilanti Roosevelt in the 150 yard mixed relay losing only by a split second. Comstock earned a third place in the individual 150 yard freestyle race while Hayward picked up a fourth in the diving. Moehling, Blumenthal, Wiselogle all showed up well in the preliminary events.

Bill Comstock left the team in scoring with Captain Ted Garbe. The team's scores for the Cubs this year were Allen, Emerson, Blumenthal, Hayward, Moehling, Gushick, Wiselogle, and Trytten.

Bill Comstock was chosen by this year's squad to captain next year's team. The chances for a better season should be very good since only three seniors, Garbe, Allen and Moehling, will be lost through graduation.

SPRING SPORTS

Second row—Dave Kashick, Don Edmonson, L. Sharman, Bill Dobson, Don Edmonson, John Walcott, Lewis Sharman, Jack Treadway, Charles Treadway, C. Treadway.
Third row—Bill Wood, James Bourquin, Rosecoe Bonastreel, Art Hopkins, Jack Moehle.

TRACK

THE U-High's track squad turned in the most successful season on record by winning all of their dual meets, winning the Huron League Title for the first time on record, taking a fourth in the regional tournament and sending two men to the state meet.

The team was coached by Fred East, was captained by Tillotson and Sample, and included Dobson, Gr. m. Sharman, Ticknor, Allen, Newcomb, Edmonson, J. Tillotson, Hewett, Glas, Treadway, Trytton, L. Sharman, and Walcott.

The Cubs defeated Chelsea 63-14, Belleville 59-18, Roosevelt 50½ to 38½ in dual meets with these schools. Without the services of Sample, star sprint man, the Cubs annexed a fourth in the regional. In this tournament Dobson won the low hurdles and placed third in the high jump while Tillotson took the mile run. As a result of these efforts these two men went to the state meet.

In the state meet Dobson got a fifth place in the low hurdles and a sixth place in the broad jump. In the same meet Tillotson took a fourth in the mile run.

The Cubs triumphantly closed the 1937 season with the Huron League victory. In this meet the Cubs were 20 points above Roosevelt, their nearest rival, annexing a total of 48 points. Sample was the Cub star, having won three firsts and running on the winning relay team.

TENNIS

A FAIR record was turned in by the 1937 edition of the U.H.S. Tennis team as they won three, lost three, and tied one dual match, won the regional tournament and sent a doubles team to the semi-finals of the state tournament.

This year's squad was coached by Dr. Johnston and was captained by Art Hopkins while the other members of the squad were Bourquin, Hayward, Bragg, McMurray, Bonisteel, Comstock, Perkins, Slator, Dice, Moehlman, Keppel, Underdown, and O'Dell.

The Cubs dropped matches to Adrian, Detroit University School, and Plymouth, defeated Roosevelt twice, Ann Arbor High once, and tied Adrian once.

The Cubs placed third in the Huron League behind Dundee and Roosevelt but made up for this by winning the first and second doubles and the first and second singles to monopolize the regional tournament. As a result McMurray and Bonisteel went to the state in singles competition, and Hopkins, Bourquin, Bragg, and Hayward went to the state in doubles competition.

GOLF

THE 1937 golf team, coached by Mr. Wesley Darling and with Bill Wood as honorary captain, had a very good season, it won seven out of ten dual matches, won the regional meet and was again runner up in the state tournament. The team which amassed this record was composed of Osler No. 1, Wood No. 2, Allen No. 3, Whitney No. 4, Easlick No. 5, and Karpinski No. 6.

The squad won two matches from St. Thomas, Plymouth, and Northville and took one from Howell. Ann Arbor High defeated U. High twice, and Howell took the measure of the Cubs once.

The foursome of Osler, Wood, Allen, and Whitney broke the school's team low score record of 345 by 9 strokes when they came in with a 336 at Plymouth. This same day Dave Osler broke the individual record of 78, held previously by Bill Huntington, when he came home with a 77.

The team won the regional tournament by a margin of 19 strokes while Osler took the second low medal with a 92 and Wood took third low honors with his 93.

The Cubs were again second in the State tournament, losing to St. Augustine of Kalamazoo, by four strokes. Bill Wood and Dick Allen scored for fourth place individual honors with scores of 85. The other scores were Osler 86, and Whitney 99.

Dave Osler was elected as next year's captain and the prospects are quite good as only Wood and Whitney will be lost by graduation.

We Nominate for the "Noble" Prize

William Wood, because he is the "ideal husband" type.

Stan "Duffy" Duffendack, because he always manages to say the right thing at exactly the right time much better than you, yourself, possibly could.

Martha "Marty" Graham, because Roosevelt was re-elected and she is still Courageously wearing a sunflower.

Bill Dobson, because he gets up and says "assembly has been dismissed".

Ginnie "Bru" Drury, because her reputation for being close-mouthed.

Bill "Ears" Gram, because of his reknown as a woman-hater.

Ted "Kidder" Guthe, because he anticipates the day when feminine life savers will patrol the beaches.

Ted Bragg, because he played Apollo in the ninth grade English class play.

Mary Anna Jamison, for her "peaches and cream complexion".

Frank Whitney, because of his quiet, retiring nature.

Mary Helen Davis, because of her ability to make under-statements.

Jack Moehlman, because, as chairman of the eligibility committee, he has restricted his own activities.

Jackie "The Duchess" Rothman, because she is a confirmed conservative and because she never chews gum.

Mary Ellen "String Bean" Wheeler, because she is always her sweet, natural self.

Fitch Tillotson, because his Scotch instinct has kept the budget balanced, and because he never argues.
